2009 MISHMASH MARGARET RIVER RED

Varieties Cabernet Sauvignon

Region Margaret River

Vineyards Wilyabrup, a northern sub-region of Margaret River, is well known for producing wines of excellent finesse and balance. Reliable for warm dry growing seasons, the vineyard takes full advantage of these conditions with good exposure of fruit to allow optimum ripening.

Season The 2008/2009 growing season began with cool conditions during the spring months resulting in some variations in the vineyard as well as reduced yields. Fortunately the ripening period was blessed with warm dry conditions and delivered beautiful ripe and balanced flavours.

Harvest Date April 2009

Winemaking Winemaking Harvested during the cool of the night to maintain the quality of the fruit. The fruit was destemmed and crushed into stainless steel static fermenters. Gentle pumpovers during the primary ferment to extract colour and flavour from the skins. After primary ferment the wine was pressed of skins to complete its secondary ferment and put on French oak for aging.

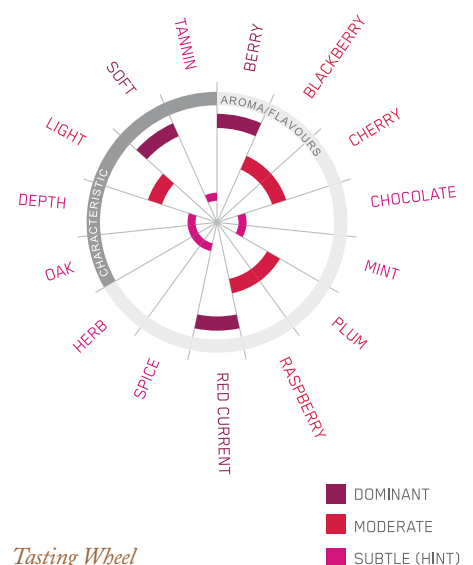

Analysis Alcohol: 14.5% TA 6.5g/l pH 3.5

Bottling Date May 2010
